Tuesday next is the eighteen hun- Bruneau.

The churches generally will observe the event by solemn services commensure of the o'casion and will remember the advent on the earth of the "Man of Sorrows" who died that through Him might live. In some instances the observance will be of the most simple kind, in others of an elaborate character.

As might be expected those of the Catholic and Episcopal creed will be of St. Mark's Episcopal.

Nearly the same order as regards the celebration of the mass on Christmas day, will be followed by Rev. Father Kiely at St. Patrick's church as that announced for the cathedral. The hours will be the same and the services, while of necessity not as elaborate as at the large church, will be none the less impressive. The church is located at the corner of Fourth South and Foarth West and while small, is elegantly appointed in its way. The musical portion of the service will be one long to be remembered, the priest having, with the indies of his congregation, taken especial pains to make it of the highest haterest.

An claborate here was a service will be held at many of the other churches on Christings and the day generally will be the late.

Episcopal Churches Will Be of an Elaborate Nature—The First Congregational—Supper For the Little Ones at the Central Christian—First Methodist.
